Daly City Hearing on Bayshore Set Feb. 7

TRUSTEES TOLD:

'Best' Crew Working Now At Jefferson

By DON MILLER

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High school district were informed Monday night that the Jefferson High school project now has "the largest and best crew on the job."

District Superintendent Edward D. Morgan told the board this information had been received from the district's architects, Falk & Booth of San Francisco.

Morgan added, however, that "this job is still not up to our expectations."

Extension

In December, the district reluctantly gave a 63-day extension to the general contractors, James E. Roberts company, to finish the rebuilding of the high school.

Morgan said bids will be opened May 13 on a contract to demolish three buildings at the Jefferson site.

He said administrators would tour the old buildings to determine what equipment could be utilized either in the new Jefferson facilities or elsewhere in the district.

In another development, Morgan told the board a study was being undertaken to revise "the master plan for Jefferson."

He explained that "putting 2000 students on a 20-acre site would be pushing things a little tight."

And he added that the school should ultimately serve between 1600 and 1650 students.

"That will serve our area if and when the Crocker High school comes into being," he said.

More Office Space
Morgan reported that more office space now is needed at Westmoor high school. The board authorized him to develop a scheme for providing the space.

In other action, the board adopted a formal policy on reimbursement for travel and conference expenses in connection with district business.

Board President James M. Cooper, suggested that several maximums in the policy were too low.

Cooper said an $11 per diem top for meals and incidentals other than lodging should be boosted to $15.

A range of $10 to $15 for hotel or motel accommodations should be $15 to $20 instead, he advised.

The board concurred with his suggestions and the policy was adopted with the changes.

The board heard a report from Morgan that a meeting of all "interested parties" regarding Westmoor's faulty space heating water conductor was to be held today.

Pipe Leak

Four months ago, school officials discovered that the conductor, an eight-inch steam pipe that circles the school, was leaking.

Morgan has reported that should the line suffer a major break the school could not be heated.

The meeting was scheduled, he explained, in an effort to resolve the liabilities of the parties involved.

Daly City Crime Dips During '62

Crime in Daly City decreased slightly during 1962, according to figures released by the police department.

A drop of .012 per cent was tabulated by the department for an annual report to state and federal law enforcement agencies.

"The decrease came even with a sizeable increase in population," said Captain Roy Beecher. He pointed out that burglaries and auto thefts generally boost the average.

By comparison, San Francisco reported a three per cent increase in the total of all crime committed during 1962.

In major crimes, excluding such categories as traffic arrests, drunkenness, forgery, and liquor violations, the Daly City Police Department handled 1344 cases during 1962 compared to 1327 in 1961.

By categories, Beecher cited these statistics:

Manslaughter by negligence: only one case in 1961, two in 1962.

Forcible rape: nine cases in 1961, two in 1962.

Robberies: 21 in 1961, 18 in 1962.

Aggravated assaults: 13 in 1961, nine in 1962.

Burglaries: 241 in 1961, 243 in 1962.

Larceny and theft over $50: 254 in 1961, 299 in 1962.

Larceny and theft under $50: 607 in 1961, 611 in 1962.

Auto theft: 181 in 1961, 160 in 1962.

San Mateo county District Attorney Keith Sorenson noted that the crime rate within the county dropped in comparison with the increase in population.

The number of cases in the county rose from 6251 in 1961 to 7507 in 1962. But a substantial number of additional cases resulted from a change in the procedure of handling many drunk cases, Sorenson explained.

Formerly, cases were handled by city attorneys under city ordinances. But Sorenson's office took over many of these when the Penal Code was amended in 1961.

ANNEXATION MOVES — Here is a map showing annexation proposals by Daly City and Brisbane. Shaded area at top, center, indicates inhabited portion of Bayshore City that Daly City is seeking to acquire. Area adjacent, indicated by vertical lines, is industrial land that Brisbane has moved to annex.

Brisbane has presented its proposal to the San Mateo county boundaries commission. Daly City hopes to present its request to the commission in the near future.

Council Holds Special Meet In Annexation

By RON BATES

Daly City goes before the San Mateo county Boundary Commission February 7 to keep from being left at the post in the Bayshore city annexation derby.

The city council met last Thursday in a 15-minute special session to begin proceedings for annexation of the inhabited portion of Bayshore City, worth approximately $4.5 in assessed valuation.

The area to be annexed would include the Cow Palace.

The council met to formally adopt a resolution proposing annexation of the inhabited portion of Bayshore which, although it bears the name "city," is now unincorporated. Two decades ago, it was incorporated.

The border of the area to be annexed abuts rich industrial land which Brisbane hopes to annex.

The resolution is a matter of procedure, according to Vice Mayor Michael DeBarnardi. It will be sent to the San Mateo County Boundary Commission for approval.

If approval is granted, the Daly City council then must pass another resolution, permitting residents of the Bayshore City area to be annexed to circulate a petition requesting affiliation with Daly City.

Public Hearing
Final move in the annexation proceedings would be a public hearing.

"No final action will be taken by the council until there has been a clear understanding by the people of Daly City," the vice mayor said.

The technical staff and members of the council will explain all that has taken place and its studies at subsequent meetings, DeBarnardi stated.

Some 55 businesses are included in the annexation move. The largest firms include Alta Coffee company, Crown Cork and Seal company, S&W Fine Foods Incorporated, J&P Enterprises, Jati Nurseries, Oneida Nurseries and the Duskin Manufacturing company, which is under construction.

City Manager Edward Frank estimated that approximately 20 per cent of the land to be annexed is industrial.

The large firms comprise approximately $3 million worth of the estimated $4.5 million assessed valuation, according to city finance director Joseph Arch. Arch estimated the income from sales tax revenue from the Cow Palace at approximately $80,000 per year.

PG&E Approves
Frank said in a prepared press release that a meeting was held last week with officials of Pacific Gas & Electric company. The PG&E officials said then they would have no objection to coming to Daly City.

Death Knell Sounds for Palm Trees

Jefferson High school's two stately palm trees and two yew trees have served their purpose and won't be transplanted, members of the Jefferson Union High School District board of trustees decided solemnly last night.

The reason?

Too expensive to transplant.

District Superintendent Edward D. Morgan reported that transplanting would cost an estimated $731 for one palm tree and $1231 for both.

Moving the two yew trees, he added, would cost $840.

Both the palm and yew trees are in the way of new construction planned at the Jefferson site.

After listing the estimates, Morgan said wryly: "I don't want to color your thinking (on a recommendation) but I think that takes care of the palm trees and the yew trees."

School Districts To Get Together

Officials of five school districts in Northern San Mateo county have been invited to meet at 8 tomorrow night to consider consolidation plans.

The meeting is the first since the San Mateo committee on school district organization decided to give districts an opportunity to offer unification plans of their own.

Earlier this month, the committee placed a 90-day moratorium on its own unification proposal and invited the districts to submit alternative proposals.

According to a 1959 state mandate, the county must submit a plan for unifying school districts by September of this year. If a proposal is not submitted, the state board of education will draw up its own boundaries.

The five school districts invited to Thursday's session include, in addition to Jefferson Elementary, Laguna Salada, Bayshore, Brisbane and Jefferson Union High school.

Last night, James M. Cooper, president of the Jefferson High board, urged other members of his board to attend Thursday's meeting.

He expressed some surprise, however, that the board had received only a telephoned invitation to the meeting rather than a formal bid.

That DUKH Is Now a Lame Duck

Pacifica's famed sea rescue DUKH is now a lame duck, its unhappy owners reported to the city council last week.

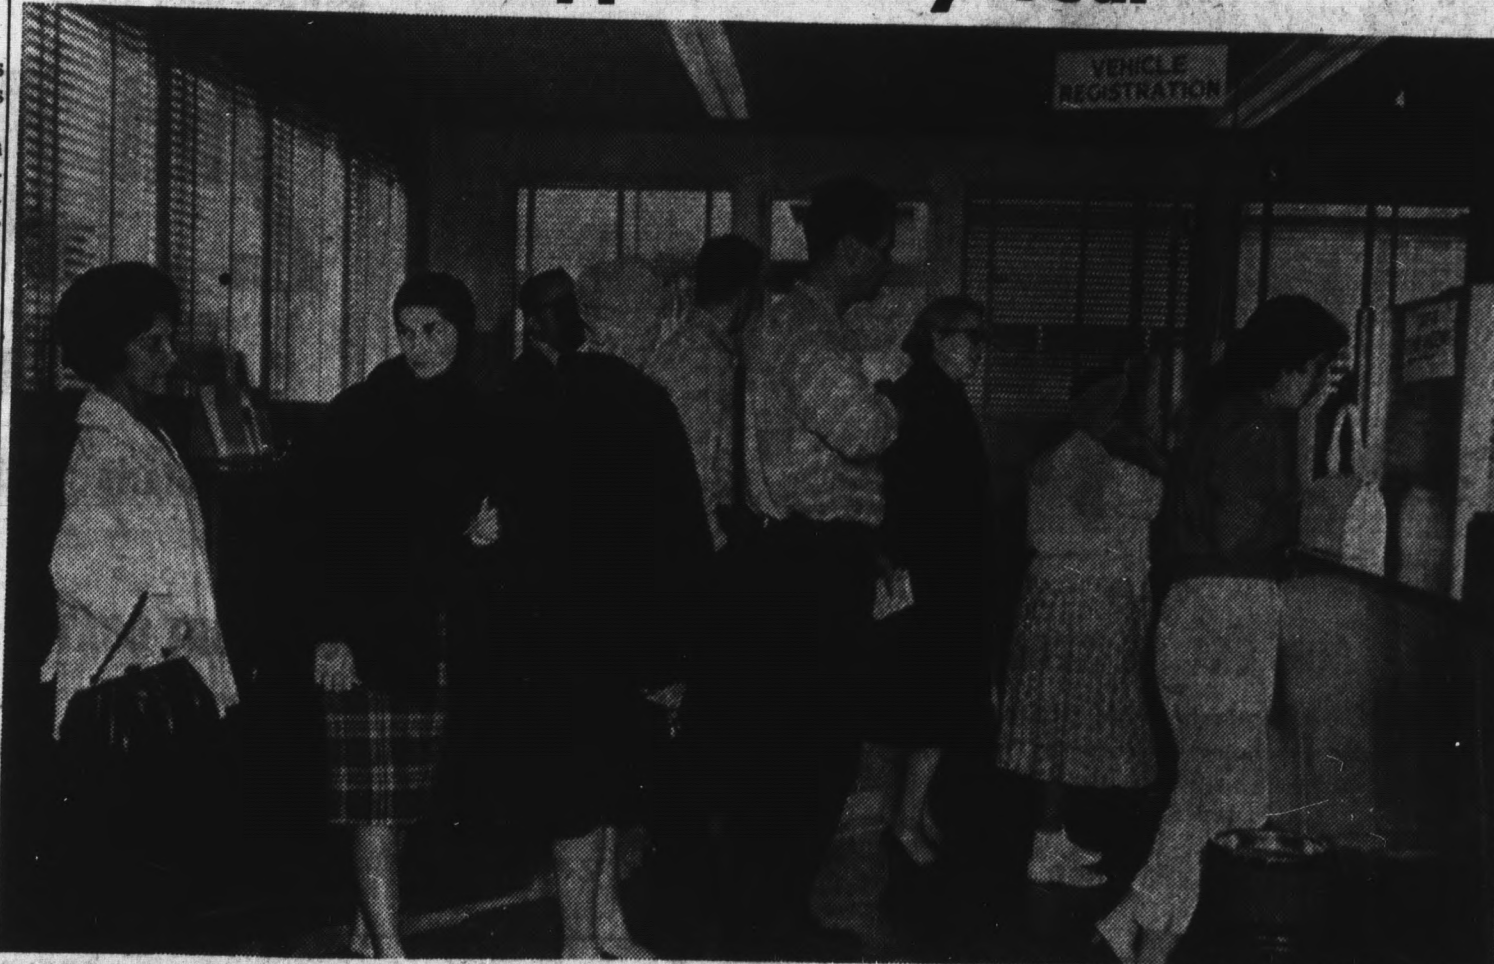

The DUKH has been laid up for two months since it got stuck in the sand on a rescue mission at Half Moon Bay.

Its owner, Chris Bonner, told the council last week the amphibious truck still is sitting in the city corporation yard, awaiting repairs, and is deteriorating as a result of not being used.

Bonner said the vehicle is rusting rapidly and the bottom will have to be sandblasted. Bonner said he had a contract for the use of the DUKH in two weeks and urged the city to speed up repairs.

He added he was still waiting for a contract with the city on the use of the DUKH.

It Happens Every Year

REGISTRATION—Residents line up to get new license plates at the Daly City Department of Motor Vehicles office at 199 Southgate avenue. Office Manager Leon Alle anticipates longer lines as the Monday deadline draws near. The Southgate office has issued almost 40,000 license plates since it began to issue them last month. (Post-Times photo)

That Annual Rush Is On

Long lines of motorists, as usual, are expected to jam the office of the Department of Motor Vehicles at 199 Southgate avenue in Daly City in the next few days to obtain new license plates.

Monday is the deadline to get new license plates without paying penalty fees. The plates are new for the first year since 1966. Tags had been issued since then.

The Southgate office has issued almost 40,000 new plates since the early part of December, according to office manager Leon Alle.

"There always seems to be a rush at the beginning and at the end," said Alle.

"During the interim there tends to be some lax periods."

The manager expects a long line on the last day.

"Last year, there were so many people at the end, that you couldn't walk in the lobby," he said. "This year we will control the number of people permitted in the building."

"Even with the long lines it doesn't take too long for a person to pick up his plates," the manager said.

Business at the Southgate office has increased considerably over last year, according to Alle. There has been about an 80 per cent increase in renewals and about a 25 per cent increase in transfers and registration.

To handle the added business, 12 more employees have been hired.

The office is normally open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. Because of the expected crowds, the office will also be open Saturday this week from 8 a.m. to noon.

The Southgate office gets several special requests for combinations of letters and numbers, Alle said, but "we can't honor them."

Layoff Plan Revision to Be Studied

The Daly City Council took action Monday night to clear up vague procedural methods in the layoff of city employees.

Mayor Joseph Verducci directed City Manager Edward Frank to consult with city employees, their representatives and employee organizations on possible revision and clarification of procedures.

Reginald Calvert, a maintenance carpenter for the city, was legislated out of a job last year in a cost-cutting move. Two hearings were held and the other personnel board's recommendation that Calvert be offered another city position was sent to the council last week.

The council Monday night referred the board's recommendation to the city manager as appointing authority.

E. W. Kenney, business representative for the employees Union, thanked the board and the council for its time and recommendation.

Auto Thief Moves Fast

A fast-moving thief unloaded a car full of furs, suits and dresses while the owner was shopping in a supermarket, Daly City police reported yesterday.

The thief stole apparel valued at some $725 from a car owned by Helen Siegel of 18 Crestwood drive, Daly City.

She told police she was away from the vehicle only 15 minutes while shopping at the Mayfair Market at 6967 Mission street.

Underwood, assistant to the vice president and general manager of the Los Angeles Times, has had a rapid rise in advertising since joining the Times 12 years ago.

He started his career as a classified advertising salesman in 1951 with successive promotions to miscellaneous divisions sales manager and automobile division manager before becoming assistant to the classified director and assistant classified manager.

In this capacity, he was helpful in maintaining the Los Angeles Times' position of running more classified advertising than any other newspaper in the United States.

In 1961, Underwood was transferred to the circulation department as assistant to the circulation manager for sales, which he held until assuming his present position in April of 1962.

Underwood attended the University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Southern California.

He graduated from USC with a bachelor of science degree in advertising. He is married and the father of four children.

Featured lecturer at the all-day workshop will be Clyde Be-dell, noted author and advertising authority.

Man Dies In Hit-Run Accident

A 50-year-old Colma bachelor was killed last Friday as he walked across Junipero Serra boulevard near his home, the victim of apparently two hit-run vehicles.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Junipero Serra hospital was James Ainsworth, 212 Ninety-second avenue.

Highway patrolmen said Ainsworth was walking across Junipero Serra at Ninety-second at 9:30 p.m. in an unmarked crosswalk less than a block from his home when he was hit by a southbound car, believed to be a red Buick. It is believed he was then struck by a second car, possibly a dark Volkswagen. Neither driver stopped.

Deputy Coroner Robert Jensen said Ainsworth succumbed to severe head injuries. He also had multiple fractures.

Ainsworth has a number of relatives in the Daly City-Colma area, including a brother, Tommy Ainsworth, of Daly City.

Funeral services were held yesterday by the W. C. Lasswell chapel in Daly City. Interment was in Golden Gate National Cemetery.

Art Show to Open

A one-man show of paintings by Daly City artist Aaron Hanin will inaugurate the 1963 series of art exhibitions in the Daly City Public Library Art Gallery at 275 Southgate avenue, beginning Saturday and extending through March 2.

Hanin was born in China where he received his early art training. In 1931, he came to the United States and enrolled in the National Academy of Design in New York City to study painting with artist Ivan Olinsky.

After graduating in commercial art from Pratt Institute, he free-lanced in New York until the outbreak of World War II. He served with the Tenth Air Force in the China Burma India theatre.

While in the service, Hanin made numerous sketches of his fellow-servicemen and studies of people in the countries he visited.

A few of these sketches are included in his exhibition.

After the war, Hanin settled in San Francisco where he attended the California School of Fine Arts and joined the Art Department of Walter Mann company.

A member of the Society of Western Artists, he frequently exhibits with this group in their local and regional shows.

He has won numerous prizes for his paintings and drawings, among them a Suydam Bronze Medal from the National Academy of Design, honorable mention at the California State Fair and a similar prize at the last Westlake Outdoor Art Show.

Hanin resides with his wife at 91 Weston drive in Westlake where he maintains his studio.

2 Quit at Laguna Salada

The Laguna Salada elementary school district is losing two of its five school trustees, it was disclosed last night at a school board meeting in Pacifica.

Mrs. Betty Geppert, vice president of the board who is completing the first two years of her first four year term, announced that she will resign in February, while William Kesinger, whose term expires on June 30, said he will not seek re-election in the April school election.

Robert T. Hale, board clerk, has not indicated whether he will seek another term on the board. His present term also expires this year.

Mrs. Geppert said she is accepting a position as a manager with a cosmetic firm and probably will move from Pacifica.

Pacifica Boy Is Improving

Donald Davis, 17, 2 Hibbert court, Pacifica, was reported "showing some improvement" this week at Peninsula hospital.

Davis was moved from the hospital "intensive care area" recently, hospital officials said. He was "near death" for some time.

The youth was taken to Peninsula hospital January 10 with second and third degree burns over 70 per cent of his body.

He was cleaning a garage floor with gasoline when a water heater pilot light ignited gasoline fumes. The youth was enveloped in flames and ran screaming from the garage.

By the time neighbors reached him he had rolled in grass and extinguished the flames. All but a sweater was burned off.

Council Refers Sanchez Letter

The Pacifica City council last week refused to reopen the controversial subject of a gas station near the Sanchez Adobe.

A Pacifica resident, David K. Marvin, wrote the Council asking about speculation on further commercial development in the area. He asked council members for assurance that they would "hold the line" at this point.

After a Superior Court decision against them, council members gave up their struggle to keep the station out, ordered a building permit issued, and rezoned the Linda Mar boulevard-Adobe drive lot for commercial purposes.

All surrounding property is zoned for single family or garden apartment use.

Mayor George Mason said last week there was no point in reopening a subject that would split the council and moved that Marvin's letter be referred to the planning commission.

Councilman Harland Minshew said any move to rezone property in the Sanchez Adobe area would be made when and if application for a rezoning comes in.

filed an amended complaint in superior court in an attempt to halt the annexation move. He said the amended complaint appeared generally to consist of allegations continued in a prior complaint which was dismissed in superior court. In any case, Reisch said, Brisbane is not now under a restraining order to halt its annexation.

According to Brady, the Daly City annexation appears to up to boundaries of the proposed Brisbane annexation, but does not conflict with it.

That Annual License Rush Is Underway

Each motor vehicle office is allotted a series of numbers and letters and must issue them in sequence.

In order to obtain DDD999, a motorist would have to be standing behind the person who gets DDD998.

The system for getting plates is very simple, Elie explained. Sacramento sends out an IBM card to persons who were issued tags last year. Persons with these cards go right to an express window in the front of the office.

Persons from out of state or who have bought new or old cars go to the vehicle registration line.

Some licenses in other states don't expire until March or April, as in Maryland, Elie said. In this case, a person pays a pro-rated fee.

"The plates are expected to last for 10 years," Elie said. "They are made of heavy steel with copper."

Pacifica Teacher Is Remembered

Three trees were planted last week at Westview school in Pacifica, in memory of Ellen Lloyd, a fourth grade teacher at Westview until her death last October.

In a memorial ceremony attended by the faculty and student body of the school, a yew, flowering eucalyptus and flowering crabapple trees were planted in the school's inside patio as a living testimonial to a teacher's devotion.

Mrs. Lloyd, who died at the age of 59, taught in Laguna Salada district schools for more than ten years and had been at Westview school for four years.

In a tribute written by her fellow teachers, Mrs. Lloyd is remembered as one who "had a good share of the qualities of a perfect teacher: education, humility, discipline, adaptability, hope, courage, wisdom, gentleness, patience, grace and persistence."

"It is the hope of the Westview teachers that whenever these trees are seen by those passing this way, they will be reminded of the things which Mrs. Lloyd represented and taught so well. Mrs. Lloyd dedicated her entire life to serving others and most of all — children."

The Westview teachers said that Mrs. Lloyd taught religious education to students in her church before coming to school to teach for a full day.

She spent many hours with students beyond the regular school session. She was a charter member and historian of the Westview P-TA.

Pacific Heights Residents Aid Memorial Blood Drive

Pacific Heights residents responded generously to a blood drive conducted last week in the San Bruno subdivision in memory of a child who died of leukemia. George Sanchez, who was 13 years old and an eighth grade student at Pacific Heights school, died last December 22 after a six weeks illness. He was one of eight children, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Sanchez of 3270 Fasman drive.

The blood drive was sponsored by members of the Pacific Heights school P-TA. Mrs. Herman Langbehn is the president.

A blood donation center was set up in the multi-purpose room of the school, staffed by a doctor and four nurses from the Peninsula Blood Bank. Assisting in the drive were local Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

The donations will be kept by the Peninsula Blood Bank as the "George Sanchez Memorial Blood Bank" and will be available to any Pacific Heights resident.

Several friends of the Sanchez family in San Francisco donated blood, including a father of six children who said he was giving his 25th pint of blood.

DEATHS

Funeral services were held last Thursday for Calvin Fletcher, 43, of 723 Lockhaven drive, Pacifica, who died January 22 in San Mateo.

He is survived by his wife, Sophie, and two children, Pennie Sue and E. Jay.

A native of Mountain View, Okla., he had been a resident of Pacifica for the past five years. He was employed by the Doane-Minto Ford company and was a member of the Automotive Machinist Union, Local 1414.

The Rev. Edwin O. Periman of the First Baptist church of Pacifica officiated at services held by Naumann & Lincoln chapel. Interment was in the Golden Gate National cemetery.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

Personally, on behalf of the Rotary club of Daly City, and as mayor, let me express my sincere appreciation to the outstanding support your newspaper gave to the 1963 Blood Donor Day.

Let me especially commend Ron Bates, whose imagination, personal and professional support contributed greatly to our effort this year.

Publicity is the backbone of every event like Blood Donor Day and we could scarcely have asked for more cooperation from your organization.

JOSEPH J. VERDUCCI,
 Mayor of Daly City

Editor, The Times:

To all the citizens and friends in Daly City, I wish to thank each and every one of you for your attendance at that memorable evening of January 17 and for your part on that memorable gift which was presented to me. I shall have many hours of pleasure with it.

I also want each one of you to know that I sincerely appreciate your kind words and your Good Bye messages. They will long be remembered.

I thoroughly enjoyed knowing each one of you and working for you. The thirty eight years of living in Daly City hold many pleasant memories for me and my three children, who were all born and reared in Daly City.

My apartment in southern California is slowly getting organized. It is a bit chilly but not nearly as cold as in Daly City and there is far more sunshine. It will be a pleasure to see any of you when you are in southern California.

New Equipment

GROWTH BRINGS CHANGES—Mayor Joseph Verducci and Councilman Francis Pacelli watch city employees Paul Siragusa and George Claus install a new water pump at Southgate avenue and Montrose street. According to City Engineer William Chapman, the new replacement pump has a larger capacity to satisfy expanding water needs of the area. (Post-Times photo)

"Since You Asked Me..."

What do you do with your leisure time?

Troy Downey, 540 D street, Colma: "I have two jobs and there is no such animal as leisure time for me. When I do have a weekend free, though, I like to go fishing. Most of the time when I'm off, I sleep."

Mrs. William Adams, 30 Station street, Daly City: "My husband and I like to watch television. It's relaxing. There are so many good programs now."

Mrs. Arlene Williams, 214 Dixon court, Daly City: "I'm taking two courses over at San Francisco State. The homework is enough to take up any slack in my housework. I have a two-year-old girl."

Ann Klinger, 160 Dunks street, Daly City: "Read. I like to read a lot. I subscribe to about seven magazines and go to the library frequently."

Mrs. R. T. Donnelly, 113 Clark street, Daly City: "I don't have what you might call leisure time. I have four kids to take care of and two are still in diapers. I do watch television sometimes."

SEA BOWL
By BOB WEST

Dick Chalk and Matt Clifford shared top honors for the men in the Westlake Wedlocks last week as Dick shot 215 and 584 while Matt posted a big 225 game and 583 series. Leading lady was Debbie Wilson with a 175 game and 469 series.

Wanda Grubbs led the only bowler with that name around Westlake. Last Sunday Wanda led the 510 Mixed Trio with a four game total of 79 on a high game of 212.

Rene Bateman took double honors in the A-1 Nursery League Tuesday morning as she shot a high game of 203 and a high series of 565. Sponsor Dorothy Mayle missed the "Big Four" match as she converted the 6-7-10 split.

Jim Jolly made it two weeks in a row in which he led the Southgate Mixed Fives, this time with a 233 game and 607 series while Karen Gove led the ladies with 199 and 476.

High roller in the Country Club Handicap was Ray Knudsen of the Merit Barber Shop team as he rolled a terrific 247 game and 619 series.

Early leaders in the Third Annual Westlake Handicap Doubles are Jim McGee and Dave Egan with a four game handicap total of 1450 while Dave leads in the three game Optional Singles feature with a handicap total of 618. With well over 2500 in guaranteed prizes, it is expected that well over 700 teams will compete before the tournament closes March 3.

Marge Allen again took high game honors in the St. Emrys Mothers' Guild League as she shot a 154 while Matt Terry took home high series with 404. Split converters were busy as Lucy Good picked up the 5-6-7, June Mudge the 4-5-7 and Elaine Ragazzi the 1-2.

Venustian Bakery bowler Bob Rainey led the Westmoor Handicap with a 195 high game and 572 series while on the other side of the bowl Patsie Penick was leading the Westlake Minors with 199 and 561.

Another repeat leader was Don Castellano who again took top honors in the Early Fives League, this time with a 209 game and 538 series.

Westlake Bowlers are busily forming teams for the annual Northern California Bowling Association Team Handicap tournament now in progress. Five man teams may compete anytime before the conclusion of the tournament.

Current leaders are the members of the Kentschler, Inc. team of Art Kentschler, Randy Wilson, Steve Kentschler, Dick Kentschler and Gary Meisler with a total of 3109.

Bridge players will invade Westlake Bowl Thursday, February 7 for the annual YWCA Bridge Luncheon. Starting at noon, the program will include a display of gifts from Interiors by Richter. Reservations may be made by calling PL 6-2676.

Sea Bowl

ONE OF the greatest thrills in bowling instruction is to see the shining eyes of the children as they find that it is possible for them to compete with others of their own age and that the pins go down just as easy for them as for the big folks. We tend, as big folks, to underestimate the smaller people.

Imagine rolling a ball that is an eighth of your own weight. At 100 pounds, you would roll a ball that weighs around 20 pounds. At 200 you would roll a ball that would weigh 25 pounds. And if you were the size of Bob Wilson, Doug Hodgins or Joe Bush, it would be impossible to lift the ball off the floor.

The B.P.A.A. men's handicap team tournament is in full swing now and teams qualifying for the sectional have aggregate scores of around 2800. The king and queen of the month this time are Art Ross and Corinne Patania. Now for a recap of the week's scores:

The standings in the Merchants Scratch remained unchanged with Pioneer Apartments and Oceana T.V. both losing two games and the rest of the pack closing in fast. Ray Allie smashed a nice 204-630.

Midgets Down Jaaguars, 49-4

The Youth Basketball League, sponsored by the Pacific Park, Beach and Recreation department, got under way with a spate of one-sided games.

In the fifth and sixth grade leagues, the Midgets crushed the Jaaguars, 49-4. Gary Hernandez was high with 18 points. In other league action, the Panthers trampled the Warriors, 42-5. Jack La Forest tallied 18 for the Panthers.

Archery Meet Held Outdoors

Masking themselves as benevolent Robin Hoods, nine Westmoor High school girls participated in an outdoor archery tournament, sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association, at Terra Nova.

7 Teams Vie in Qualifying Race

Seven junior college teams will vie for five positions in the qualifying Golden Gate Invitational, a two-mile relay in a special qualifying race at Saturday's all-concerns meet at Palo Alto High school.

In the qualifying race, College of San Mateo will send its four man team against Golden Gate conference rivals from San Jose City College, Foothill College, Contra Costa College, and Oakland City College.

Also entered are Sacramento City College of the Valley conference and Hartnell of the Coast conference.

St. Joseph's (SJS) bettered the national JC two-mile relay record with a 20:20 (6:00) clocking, although finishing second in the race to Fullerton JC.

INJURY AGGRAVATED

Tigers Lose Pick for '63

Terra Nova's "Mr. Basketball," Manuel Pick, is out for the remainder of the season because of a leg operation, according to Tiger Coach Rich Burt. Pick went under the knife earlier this month to have a cartilage removed from his right knee.

The operation cut deep into the Tigers' chances for capturing the North Peninsula league title. Terra Nova had been expected to give favored Westmoor and Jefferson trouble.

"No one can replace him," Burt said. "It's a question now whether the team as a whole can fill the void. We'll definitely miss him. The team has good balance, but with Pick out it's hard to say what will happen."

Terra Nova gave Jefferson a tough time in the league opener without Pick. The Tigers lost, however, 44-40.

The Tigers will miss the cage star on the boards and in the scoring column, according to Burt.

In his first game of the season against Terra Linda, Pick grabbed 21 rebounds and scored 30 points.

Burt said Pick was "the best rebounder in the league" until his injury began to bother him. "The knee was always a threat to him, and he began to favor it."

In three games before a league tournament at Oceana, Pick hit 39 per cent of his shots in averaging 30 points a game.

Last year he hit 48 per cent in scoring 280 points for a 15 point average.

"He carried the ball club," Burt said. Pick was voted "Most Valuable Player" for the past two years.

According to Burt, the injured star, came to Terra Nova as a sophomore with no basketball experience. He played on the junior varsity team and then moved to the varsity as a junior.

"He has desire and is a real hard worker," Burt said. Pick was named second-string quarterback on the All-Northern Peninsula league football team last season after playing guard the previous season.

Open Track Meet Slated

Junior colleges and high schools in Northern California will have their day on the San Francisco Cow Palace's indoor track Saturday, February 16.

The Northern California Track and Field association is sponsoring an open meet as a follow-up to the Golden Gate Invitational indoor meet the night before.

"The primary object of the Saturday meet is mass participation and an opportunity for many runners to experience indoor running," according to Henry Wagner, College of San Mateo track coach and co-ordinator of the JC division of the meet.

Locan Lansberry, track coach at Carmichael High school, heads the high school division. Many heats of each event will be run for time and there will be no finals. A complete indoor high school program of track and field events will be on the schedule, plus these JC track events: 60-yard dash, 60-yard high hurdles, 800-yard run, mile run, two-mile run, and "mile" relay (4 x 400 yards since the track is 160 yards to the lap).

Westlake Team New Champions

Westlake's Our Lady of Mercy cagers are undisputed champions of the Hillsdale Junior High school church league as a result of a hard-fought victory over Hillsdale Methodist.

The O.L.M. crew finished their league season with a perfect 9-0 record after scoring a 31-20 victory over Hillsdale in the final game of the season.

In the battle for second place, Pilgrim Baptist took an early lead and were never headed as they dumped Shoreview Methodist, 35-27.

John Barei scored 35 points to lead Millbrae Methodist to a 44-28 win over Grace Lutheran.

The champion O.L.M. team will be honored at the annual awards dinner at Hillsdale Methodist church February 7 along with presentation of All-League awards.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Martin

THESE COLD days make our minds turn toward meals that will be hot and nourishing, delicious and easy to make. Here is a wonderful chowder that fills the bill and has the added attraction of being quite inexpensive.

DRIED LIMA BEAN CHOWDER

- 1 cup dried lima beans
- 1 large onion, minced as fine as your tears will allow
- 3 Tbsp. bacon fat
- 1 cup water or stock (I use a cup of hot water with two bullion cubes)
- 2 cups raw diced potatoes
- 4 cups stewed tomatoes, fresh or canned
- 1 1/2 tps. celery salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 Tbsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. minced parsley

Soak the beans overnight in water to cover. In the morning simmer until tender in fresh water to cover. Meanwhile cook onion in bacon fat until golden brown, add water or stock along with the diced potatoes and cook until they are tender. Combine with the beans and liquor in which they were cooked, add tomatoes, seasonings and sugar. Bring to a boil and simmer 5 or 10 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley.

SERVED with crispy, crusty french bread and a salad, your dinners complete.

NOTE: You are supposed to soak the beans overnight before you get your recipe under way. But if you are as forgetful as I am, and didn't soak them over night, follow this method:

Cover with water, bring the beans to a boil, simmer for two minutes remove from heat, and allow to stand for an hour, tightly covered. Then proceed with the recipe, as though you had soaked them.

This next recipe comes from Mrs. Eileen Spears, 160 Westmoor ave., Daly City. Eileen writes that she is frequently stymied when choosing an interesting vegetable dish for special meals and on a search recently she found this dish which she recommends highly.

SOUR CREAM BEETS

- 15 small peeled beets
- 2 Tbsp. butter
- 2 Tbsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 Tbsp. flour
- 1 cup thick sour cream

Put peeled beets through coarse food chopper or chop with large knife. There should be 1 qt. chopped beets. Melt butter in saucepan, stir in beets, sugar, salt, pepper and water. Bring to a boil, then cook gently until beets are tender, about 12 minutes.

Blend flour into sour cream and fold into beets mixture. Serve immediately. Makes 4 to 6 servings. Eileen writes that she found this recipe in "Farm Journals County Cook Book".

LAST WEEK a kind but anonymous person stopped at the office and left a recipe for cheese cake in answer to our earlier request. We don't have room this week to print the recipe but would like to soon and to give credit where credit is due. So would you please call the paper and give us your name and address?

Telegraph Hill' Witty, And Original

By FAITH SMELTZER

Anyone familiar with Actors Workshop productions knows they are polished and professional. They are also comparable to and often of far better quality than those seen at the big theaters.

Telegraph Hill, by Herbert Blau is no exception. His drama is fresh, original, witty and fast-paced.

All the action takes place in the living room and on the terrace of an apartment on Telegraph Hill.

The play's eight characters are people who live life keenly and with not only an awareness of the world around them, but also with a feeling of guilt and responsibility for some of the difficulties men have introduced into their world.

All are "main" characters in the sense that the play involves and revolves around all of them. In three short acts, you get to know each of them.

They all have problems and not all the problems are resolved in the play. You are introduced to Sonny Weyro (Monte Markham) who is struggling with both his inability to face the world and his desire to change it.

You meet his wife, Grace (Marian Bailey), a sweet person who adores her husband, ignoring his insults and aggravating him by her "goodness."

Walter Benn (Robert Haswell), is a man who is consistently in the wrong place at the wrong time, who joined the Communist party in the thirties and is now being put on the stand for it.

His wife, Rita (Beatrice Monley), is witty, sharp-tongued, and a little weary of always being poor.

Louis Stabonna (Robert Kames), is a well-to-do lawyer who seems to be rather ineffectual. This is a character sketchily portrayed, but you know enough about him to know that he is the kind of person no one notices until they need help and that he will always be there when needed.

His wife is Fran (Shirley Joe Wagner), a glamorous person who does a daily radio interview show from Enrico's Coffee House.

Amos Callaway (Malcolm Smith), is a lovable young student with homosexual leanings, and who has almost half of the funny lines in the play.

Jack Robins (Tom Rosqui), is Grace's brother, an angry intellectual who faces and feels guilty about world problems and who cannot find peace of mind unless he attempts to better them.

All roles were excellently played, with the exception of Markham who seemed slightly wooden until the middle of the second act.

Rosqui, who has been in the Actors Workshop for about eight years, was particularly outstanding in his role. Jules Irving directed the production.

Double Celebration

SILVER AND GOLD—A silver anniversary and a golden anniversary are being celebrated this month by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hughes, owner of the Eickleses Bakeries in Daly City's Skyline Plaza and Pacifica's Eureka Square shopping centers, and Mrs. Hughes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Smith. The fiftieth anniversary celebration was held at the Hughes home in San Francisco. The twenty-fifth anniversary celebration was held Sunday. The two couples were the guests of the Hughes children, Bonnie, 20, Bob, 15, and Betsy, 7, at a dinner at Tarantino's in San Francisco Saturday. From left to right are Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Smith and Smith. The cake is from Eickleses, of course. (Post-Times Photo)

Westmoor Dance Has Registration

The Westmoor dance group will begin a new winter term, tomorrow, according to Mrs. Lynn Howlett, co-ordinator.

Registration will continue all day today and tomorrow for the non-profit, co-operative group organized and run by mothers who are interested in giving their children training in creative dancing.

Openings still exist for the pre-school and kindergarten dance classes, Mrs. Howlett said.

All the teachers at the non-profit school are former pupils of Dick Ford, a well-known television personality on KQED, the educational channel.

Mrs. Howlett explained that

Ford bases his creative dance theories on a child's natural responses to music and rhythm. If properly guided and developed by instruction, Mrs. Howlett said, this response will grow into an able appreciation of dance in all its forms.

In the instruction given to the children, they are taught to be aware to music mood and rhythm, body construction, and movement.

Beginning ballet is taught to girls of eight years and older.

Classes for all age groups are held weekly in the Westlake-Broadmoor area. More information may be had by calling Mrs. Howlett at WYman 2-0677 or PLaza 6-1709.

HELP WANTED Teaching Requests Are Made

A new program to train and retrain persons in clerical skills is being worked on by the rehabilitation division of the Department of Health and Welfare. Volunteers who could give some time to teaching typing and other office skills have been asked to contact the Volunteer Bureau of San Mateo.

Also on file at the bureau offices, 119 Primrose road, Burlingame, are the following requests:

JEGAL AID SOCIETY—volunteers to help the professional staff interview persons in need of legal advice who cannot afford the services of paid counselors. The work would be done Monday and Tuesday mornings or afternoons at the Redwood City court house.

AMERICAN RED CROSS—volunteer typists to process envelopes for a special project during the months of January and February.

CRYSTAL SPRINGS HOME—craft teachers. Persons who know—and will teach such crafts as weaving, painting, or ceramic work. The home will also teach a craft to an interested person in order that she, in turn, teach it to the resident of the home.

FRIENDLY VISITING PROGRAM—persons to visit elderly residents of nursing and boarding homes three hours a week or less.

Typists who can give one or a half day a week have been requested by several different agencies including the Heart association, the United Fund, and the Crippled Children's society. Aides with clerical skills are needed by the Tuberculosis association and the Peninsula Conservatory of music.

The volunteer Bureau is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. It is a project of the Assistance League and shares in the United Fund.

GELATIN USE

Taking gelatin daily over a period of time is sometimes helpful in preventing split finger nails. One enjoyable way to take it is in tomato juice. Sprinkle an envelope of unflavored gelatin over a cup of the juice in a saucepan; stir over moderately low heat until the gelatin dissolves. Pour into a large cup or mug and drink as you would any hot beverage. This makes a fine weight-watchers lunch with cheese and melba toast.

ADD PARSLEY

Scrambling four eggs? Add a tablespoon of minced parsley. A puffy omelet is delicious served with a cheese sauce.

AND CHURCH ACTIVITIES OF
DALY CITY, COLMA AND PACIFICA

Deep Are the Roots

Marshall H. Kuhn, Religious School principal of Peninsula Temple Beth El, is shown planting a tree in the Peninsula Temple Beth El sector of the American Freedom Forest of the Jewish National Fund during his recent visit to Israel.

Kuhn, co-chairman of the 1963 Jewish Welfare Federation Campaign, visited Israel as a member of the United Jewish Appeal Overseas Study Mission.

This sector of the forest in the hills of Judea is a project of the Temple's Religious School children—started during the observance of Jewish Arbor Day (Tu B'Shevat) in 1958.

The Temple's spiritual leader, Rabbi Sanford E. Rosen, and Mrs. Rosen dedicated this forest last year on a trip to Israel. The Beth El children will continue with their project during this year's Tu B'Shevat observances in the school, February 10.

Broadmoor Church Clothing Drive Termed Successful

The board of deacons of Broadmoor Presbyterian church in Colma has termed successful the church's November-December clothing and blanket drive, held for Church World Service, a Protestant distribution agency for overseas relief.

Dubbed Operation WRAP, the drive netted more than 300 pounds of clean, mended clothing and blankets destined for victims of the Iranian earthquakes and for Cuban, Algerian, and Arab refugees.

According to chairman Mrs. Fred Dethlefsen, WRAP stands for Warm, Repairable Apparel Procurement, a local nickname.

A similar program last May and June resulted in some 400 pounds being delivered to a forwarding depot at Modesto.

Members of the board of deacons received, assembled, and packed the clothing gifts for shipping under Mrs. Dethlefsen's direction.

Congregation To See Film

Temple Judea will hold its monthly Family Worship service Friday night at the Westlake Community Baptist church, Southgate avenue and Elmwood drive, Daly City.

Services will begin at 8, a half earlier than usual.

After the service, members of the congregation will view a copy of the Hakoah Athletic club film, "Sixth World Maccabiah Games."

The color film, narrated by sports announcer Mel Allen, will present sights and sounds of Israel and the impact they made on more than 1200 Jewish athletes from 26 nations—as well as on several non-Jewish American champions and world-record holders—who participated in the sports festival.

Sylvia Werner, Temple Judea Sunday school teacher, will give the introduction to the film from the Hakoah club.

Bronco Coach To Talk Here

The Westlake Catholic Men's club will hold its February meeting at Our Lady of Mercy parish hall at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Plans for a pre-Lenten dance and a forthcoming father-son night will be discussed.

Guest speaker will be Pat Malley, football coach of Santa Clara university. He'll talk about athletics and football at Santa Clara.

Beth El Plans Friday Service

"Where Do We Go From Here?" will be the subject of Rabbi Sanford E. Rosen's sermon during Sabbath services at Peninsula Temple Beth El at 8:30 Friday evening.

Assisting Rabbi Rosen and Cantor Herbert I. Epstein in leading the worship will be Mr. and Mrs. James Stone and their son Harvey Elliott who will become a Bar Mitzvah. The Oneg Shabbat, social hour in honor of the Bar Mitzvah, will be held after the service.

BAZAAR PLANNED

The Sisterhood of B'nai Israel will conduct a bazaar Sunday, February 17, in the social hall of the synagogue at 67 Los Banos avenue.

Witnesses Plan Circuit Meeting In S.F. Temple

The Watchtower Bible and Tract society has announced that the semi-annual circuit conference of Jehovah's Witnesses will be held at the Scottish Rite temple in San Francisco, February 22-24.

More than 2000 delegates are expected to attend. Sixteen congregations from the Peninsula and San Francisco will participate.

The program will comprise a variety of talks on Bible subjects with discussions and demonstrations designed to train delegates to be better qualified to teach.

The assembly theme is: "Right Kind of Ministers," based on a chapter verse in Timothy. The conference will be highlighted by a baptism ceremony Saturday afternoon, February 23.

Sunday, February 24, district supervisor Arthur L. Borchardt will discuss: "Who Will Win the Struggle for World Supremacy."

Youth Week Will Close

Youth Week closes Sunday at the Westside Baptist church in South San Francisco. At church services, the youth and children will again take part in preliminary exercises.

A highlight of the closing day will be a performance by the Ladies Trio from the Simpson Bible college of San Francisco.

This trio has sung in various San Francisco and Bay Area churches. They will be making their second appearance at Westside Baptist church. The trio comprises Barbara Kayser of Petaluma; Shiela Frost of Olympia, Wash.; and Susie Finck of Redlands. Grace Howard on the staff of the college will accompany the trio.

In keeping with the Youth week emphasis, the Junior choir, composed of junior Sunday school department boys and girls, will sing at the morning worship hour.

In the absence of the pastor, A. David Donnelly, who will be directing a snow camp at Hartland, Calif., the Rev. Don Husted, lay preacher from San Jose will preach. He was formerly pastor of a church in San Luis Obispo.

Saturday evening at 7:30, a group of youth and adults from Westside will attend the San Francisco "Youth for Christ" rally, held at the War Memorial auditorium, Van Ness avenue and McAllister street.

Don McFarland will be the featured speaker and the well known baritone soloist and recording artist, John Webb, will be the featured musician.

'Population Explosion'

21 Mice Born at Westmoor

A population explosion on a small scale best describes a situation in the Westmoor High school biology prep room after the birth of 11 mice January 21, and 10 more Thursday.

The mice are the basis of three students' experiments.

The pink-tailed litter, owned by biology student Steve Ziegler is the newest addition to 16 other mice and rats housed in the room.

By breeding a white mouse with a brown mouse, Steve will attempt to illustrate Mendel's theory of heredity through a study of color dominance in the offspring.

Working on a separate but identical experiment is Junior Michele Colby whose work should confirm Steve's findings. Michele is a physiology student.

Ed Raymond will study the similarities and difference of red and white blood cells of different animals in relation to corresponding human blood cells.

In the experiment, Ed will be using a hemocytometer—an optical instrument for determining the number of corpuscles in a given amount of blood.

He will try to obtain blood samples of organisms ranging from earthworms to horses.

Also doing advanced research is Pam Byrne who has gained recognition for her work in cancer research.

After transplanting an ovary in a white rat, Pam applies a carcinogen, a cancer inducing substance. The transplanted ovary, often developing a cancerous tumor, provides her with information on causes and forms of cancer.

Out of this experiment may come a simple way of determining pregnancy in laboratory rats, she has stated.

Flat worms will be the object of Ed Perry's study. He will attempt to explain regeneration of lost limbs and tissues.

Best projects may be entered in the annual science fair held at the Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate park in April.

Ambrosius Tops Sales;

Wins a Trip to Hawaii

Art Colvin Realty announced this week that F. J. "Johnny" Ambrosius had topped all the firm's 35 salesmen in home sales during 1962 and has won a trip to Hawaii.

Ambrosius was responsible for gross sales valued at $80,000, sales manager John Meyer announced, including 31 sales. Of the total homes listed with Ambrosius, Meyer said, 36 were sold during the year.

Bernie Cohn, last year's winner, was a close runner-up with 30 direct sales during the year, putting two Pacifica Colvin salesmen at the top of the firm's standings.

"The great work of these two contributed much to the success of Art Colvin Realty," Colvin said. Ambrosius and his wife, Madeleine, left Monday, for Hawaii. For Ambrosius, the trip will be a return to an area in which he lived for 15 years while in the navy and later as a Civil Service employee with the Department of Commerce.

He was at Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941 and witnessed much of the Japanese attack.

Banquet for BBB Feb. 19

Attorney General Stanley Mosk will address the second annual banquet of the San Mateo County Better Business Bureau. The meeting will be held at the Villa Hotel, San Mateo, February 19, concurrent with the annual election of officers.

R. L. Spangler, president of the bureau, pointed out that while this is the second annual meeting of the bureau, it is the first meeting of members and their guests as an independent San Mateo County Bureau.

The bureau was founded by the San Francisco Better Business Bureau in February of 1960 as a division. The San Mateo County Bureau became independent January 1, 1963, and is a provisional member of the National Association of Better Business Bureaus. Reservations for the February 19 dinner meeting are being accepted at the Better Business Bureau office in San Mateo at $5.50, according to Charles B. Beasley, chief executive officer of the bureau.

Bank Names John Varni

John F. Varni has been elected president of the First National Bank of Daly City, now being organized. Varni also was named a director.

These directors also were chosen: Ricco Lagomarsino, Harry Curisus, Lawrence Vannucci, Gerald Mincher and Elton McGraw. David Friedenberg was appointed legal counsel for the bank. Sponsors reported that a stock offering of $1,000,200, made available in November of 1962, has been over-subscribed.

Construction of a bank building is in the planning stage. Sponsors said a plan to open temporary quarters in Daly City is being considered.

Savings Firm Shows Increase

Emil Yulich, president of Peninsula Savings and Loan association announced that the association during 1962 realized their greatest increase in loans and savings. He reported an increase of 44.4 per cent in loans over 1961; 22.6 per cent in savings; 34.7 per cent in total resources and their reserves increased by 27.1 per cent.

Mr. Yulich attributes this above average increase to the strong financial condition and progress of the association and continued strength and vitality of savings and loan operation.

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

Crocker Sets New Records

Crocker-Anglo National bank set new performance records in 1962, despite international political tensions, world-wide stock market disturbances and increased costs in the banking industry, chairman of the board Paul E. Hoover reported to shareholders of the bank last week at their annual meeting in San Francisco.

Hoover said that at the end of 1962 the bank's net earnings "attained a new high in the face of an interest burden unprecedented in this generation" and that assets, deposits and capital funds were at a "record level."

He also noted that, with 122 offices in 74 California communities, the bank now serves "more communities and more customers than at any previous time in our history."

He said Crocker-Anglo had opened eight new offices during the year, three of them in communities where the bank had not been previously located, and had completed new quarters for four existing offices.

During 1963, he said, the bank expects to open between 15 and 19 new offices and to complete new quarters for five existing offices.

Crocker-Anglo's net operating income for 1962, after taxes, totaled $16,488,693, as compared with $16,456,684 for the previous year.

These results are equal to $2.50 per share for 1962, computed on 6,599,395 shares outstanding at the end of 1962.

In 1961, net income per share was $2.49.

Woolworth Promotions Announced

Hubert P. Smith, F. W. Woolworth company's new West Coast district manager, released last week the names of men chosen to fill the top posts in Woolworth's West Coast offices, made vacant by a succession of moves when Henry R. Wilson, former West Coast district manager, was named vice president of self-service operation and expense in the company's New York headquarters.

Henry D. Mitchell, former sales manager, steps into the post of assistant district manager which was vacated by Smith when he was designated West Coast district manager.

Robert L. Hallam, former merchandise man, is now sales manager.

William W. Moriarty, formerly superintendent of the company's Oakland inspection district has moved into Woolworth's West Coast offices as merchandise man.

Woolworth's West Coast headquarters are located at 1733 California drive, Burlingame.

Playland Won't Be Torn Down

San Francisco's Playland will continue to operate as an amusement center, the operators have announced.

Previous plans to demolish the complex of buildings for an apartment have been abandoned.

George K. Whitney, president of Whitney-at-the-Beach, said Playland's amusements and attractions will be modernized and improved. Plans include a major new roller coaster.

Floyd R. Gilman, has been appointed executive vice president of the company. Mrs. Eva C. Whitney will serve as chairman of the board.

Plant of the Week

PLANT OF THE WEEK is the scarlet-flowered hybrid rhododendron named "John McLaren" in honor of the man who did so much to make Golden Gate park the garden area it now is. This rhododendron is noted for its perfect trusses as well as its early flowering.

Rhododendron Is Scarlet Hybrid

"John McLaren," a scarlet-flowered hybrid rhododendron is the Plant of the Week. Trusses of this lovely rhododendron were shown at last Monday night's meeting of the California Horticultural society, held in the Morrison auditorium, California Academy of Sciences, in Golden Gate park.

The hybrid rhododendron "John McLaren" was named for the San Francisco superintendent of parks who was so instrumental in making Golden Gate park and the Strybing arboretum the beautiful garden areas everyone in Northern California is so proud of. McLaren and arboretum curator, Eric Walther, realized very early in their work that the "air-conditioned" climate with its fog and sea breezes was ideal for the growing of certain shade-loving plants, among them the rhododendrons known as the "King of Shrubs." Knowledge and hard work turned the pure sand, on which these gardens were to be built, into a very acceptable growing medium.

Walther was extremely fond of rhododendrons and gathered together a fine group of the better hybrids and quite a number of first-class species. According to the records, there were 85 hybrids and 70 species located in the arboretum at one time. These have outgrown their allocated space and many have become misshapen due to the crowding. In addition, Marshall P. Madison, president of the Strybing Arboretum society, has recently donated some 65 hybrids and 24 species to this garden. Plants of 60 species, grown from seed in the arboretum greenhouses, are approaching planting size. The number and quality of these rhododendron varieties will make the Strybing arboretum one of the great rhododendron gardens of the world.

P. H. Brydon, present director, is known throughout the world for his knowledge of rhododendrons. Brydon planned and won the approval of the directors, for a special rhododendron garden within the arboretum. The area chosen is situated around the lake near the entrance on South drive. Brydon stated that no major changes in the existing topography are required as this is one of the most attractive sections of the arboretum. Some shrubs, planted under the trees throughout the area, have become so crowded that they will have to be removed. Walks are being taken out. It is hoped to have the new rhododendron garden so laid out that visitors may view the plantings without obstructions, adding to the arboretum some of the features that have made English gardens so famous.

Work on the new garden has been under way for some months but it is far from finished. Brydon says that it may be some years before we can enjoy specimens such as are seen in the older gardens of Great Britain. This is an investment in the future so that others may be able to enjoy seeing mature plants of fine rhododendrons. This dream began in 1871 with William Hammond Hall, first superintendent of parks, gained momentum when John McLaren took over this job in 1887 and held it until 1943.

Cost $1500 to Watch Show

August Cordes, 234 Miriam street, Daly City, figures it might have cost him $1500 to watch a television program last week. Cordes reported to police that while he was viewing the program in the living room of his home a thief entered the rear of his house and took a small box containing a $1500 check and $6 cash.

Growing Of Trees Is Team Study

The Saratoga Horticultural foundation and the University of California are teaming up to find better ways of growing young landscape trees to be sold in containers. The co-operative research project, to be conducted at the Saratoga Horticultural foundation in Saratoga, could result in significant improvements in the trees available to homeowners in the future.

"We have three main objectives," said Maunsell Van Rensselaer, director of the non-profit foundation. "First, to develop methods of producing vigorous, well-formed root systems, without dangerous girdling roots. Second, to shorten the time needed to grow young trees to the substantial size now being requested by public and private buyers. Third, to perfect training techniques which will insure trees with strong branch structures at the right height."

The studies will be directed by Dwight Long, a pioneer in street tree improvement, who formerly was park foreman for the city of Modesto and now is horticultural consultant with the foundation. "All too often, young trees are left too long in small containers before being moved to larger ones," Long said. "The result often is girdling roots, which never grow properly, and could cause the tree to decline and die many years later."

In the research project, production procedures developed by Long at Modesto will be compared with standard nursery methods and other techniques. "Public agencies responsible for park and street tree plantings, as well as landscape architects, are seeking larger young trees, grown to specification," commented Dr. Richard Harris, chairman of the Department of U. C. Davis campus. "These studies should provide information on the effects of container design, volume and shape of tree growth in the nursery. Harris said the studies are aimed at finding techniques for growing the best trees possible, but equal concern will be given to cost and efficiency."

Peter Lert, Santa Clara county farm advisor, will be particularly involved in the economic phase of the research. Also taking part in the determination of production techniques will be Barrie Coate, foundation horticulturalist. Results of the experiments will be made public when they are available.

One Hurt in Two Car Crash

One person was injured in a two car collision on Junipero Serra boulevard near Eighty-ninth street about 10:30 Saturday morning.

Robert G. Brown, 25, of San Francisco, suffered possible fractured ribs and internal injuries when his auto and a car driven by Ione M. Silvestri, 32, 245 St. Francis boulevard, Daly City, collided.

Brown was given an emergency treatment at Junipero Serra hospital and transferred to St. Mary's hospital in San Francisco.

Pruning Fits the Tree to the Garden

Pruning a tree is more than sawing off a limb or two. It is modifying and guiding the natural growth habit of each individual plant to better fit it into the environment of the garden. In order to prune a tree intelligently the pruner must know the natural growth tendencies of the variety and the purpose that where it is.

Many home owners find that due to inexperience, or a change in plans they have a tree so ill-suited to its present location that pruning is no help. A great many of these trees can be moved successfully, if the job is done at this time of year. Timing is very important as a vigorously growing tree suffers a much greater shock when its roots are disturbed than one which is resting in the dormant state. Dormancy on the Peninsula, for most trees, is from the middle of December to about the middle of February.

Little trees, those with trunks under three inches in diameter, are fairly easy to move. They should be lifted with as large a root-ball as possible for the larger the root-ball the quicker the tree will adjust to its new site. Soil is heavy and it takes a husky man to handle a tree with its roots encased with soil. Because of the weight, the soil ball should be wrapped in burlap and tied with stout twine. Put the twine around and under the ball several times for the tree may have to be dragged a short distance and unless the soil is securely wrapped and tied it will fall off the roots. Always dig the new hole and one around the earth ball large enough to walk around the ball as you work.

Prune Top Back
Pruning the top back to compensate for the loss of roots is very important. Many transplanted trees, shrubs and roses die or just struggle to live because the owner was too timid to cut enough off the top growth. This top growth, even when the plants are dormant, transpires moisture. The cut roots cannot furnish sufficient moisture to replace that lost by evaporation so adequate pruning of the top growth is necessary. Spraying the tree with one of the antitranspirants before it is dug will cut down the moisture loss. This is particularly valuable in the transplanting of evergreens.

Some trees, such as the flowering cherries, need very little pruning for shape but like every tree they will need some pruning to keep them healthy. Pruning to maintain plant health is just basic or fundamental pruning. It consists of cutting out all dead, injured or diseased wood. Keep a bottle of alcohol in the pruning kit and each time a cut is made into diseased wood, dip the cutting blades in the alcohol to disinfect them so the disease will not be carried to healthy wood. Even flowering cherries should be checked annually for crossing branches. These offending branches can cause a lot of damage during our spring windy season. We also thin out some of the twiggy growth on the inside of our flowering cherries to allow good air circulation. This is particularly necessary with the weeping varieties as they have a tendency toward overcrowding.

Flowering peaches, flowering crabapples, flowering almonds and in fact all trees grown for their flowers should not be pruned at this time unless they are in bloom. These trees are pruned while they are in flower and before the leaf buds open. Flowers on these trees are produced on last year's new growth. Old wood does not flower and pruning before the flower buds open just robs the tree and the owner of beauty. The exception is the flowering apricot, Prunus Mume, which flowers on two-year-old wood. This tree needs little pruning as it is more restrained in growth than the peach. Flowering branches of Prunus Mume wanted for the home should be cut from two-year-old wood. The Japanese prune this flowering apricot so as to get angular growths which are highly prized for their flower arrangements.

Pruners should keep in mind that the flowering cherry should always be cut back to a healthy lateral as stubs seldom send out new growth and pruning should be done after growth has slowed down for the summer. Flowering plums must be watched for double leaders and water sprouts which clutter up the tree. Flowering almonds should be cut back to short spurs and flowering peaches like all year-old branches cut back to four-inch spurs, except for the dwarf and weeping types.

Magnolias are not immune to the need of pruning. Even the deciduous varieties such as the rare 'Magnolia Campbellii' must have some of its growth controlled or damage during a windstorm may result. Cut these trees as little as possible but do remove weak crotches and those that rub. Sucker growth should be removed as soon as noticed. Be carefully shaped while they are young and just as carefully thinned after they get older. Christmas time is a good time to thin evergreen magnolia as both branches and leaves of this tree are so ornamental they are in great demand for Christmas decorations. However, branches may be removed at most any time of the year without the tree suffering damage.

Don't overlook the possibilities of climbing and pillar roses. The new St. Mary's college rose, a brilliant red pillar, new this year and named to honor the 100th anniversary of the college, is a fine background plant. Climbing roses give a lift to any wall or fence and bloom profusely over a long season. They require some sort of support. Pillar roses, on the other hand, do not grow to such heights but can be kept in bounds against a pillar or post. The use of roses in landscaping is limited only by one's imagination.

Ask County To Delay On Butano

The county has been urged to drop its plans for acquisition of 200 acres of land in the Memorial-Portola-Butano parks area for recreational use and to go slow on proposed development of a multi-million dollar flood control and water conservation project in the same area.

Robert Tallman, attorney for the Santa Cruz Lumber company, made the appeal last Wednesday, the board of supervisors.

In urging the county to drop plans for acquisition of four parcels of land totaling 200 acres to co-ordinate its hiking and riding trails, Tallman warned that the lumber firm would oppose, in hearing and in court, the county's application to purchase the land from the federal government at $2.50 an acre.

Tax Rolls
Not only would the property be taken off the tax rolls, it is surrounded by private property, principally some of the 10,000 acres owned by the Santa Cruz Lumber company. This would require easements of the company, and the county has made no approach to the firm for these, Tallman said. "There is no way in which the county can use the land," he claimed.

As to the proposed Pomponio dam project for flood control and water conservation along Pescadero creek, the attorney said the lumber company was going to come up with a plan for private development of the area, most of which is owned by the firm.

Tallman said he believes a feasibility study of the project due next month may show that water will cover ½ to three times the area anticipated in original plans for the project, including stands of virgin redwood trees. He stated that the lumber firm is at work on development plans of its own for the area which will constitute a proposal of "outstanding contribution to the county."

Although the firm is "not prepared at this time to present our thinking," Tallman said, he urged the board not to "block your mind to development by private enterprise."

Pacifica to Appeal on Billboards

Pacifica city officials agreed last week to appeal to the state division of highways to modify its restrictions on freeway billboard instruction to allow general directional signs on off-ramps from the new Cabrillo freeway.

City Manager Karl A. Baldwin has instructed to contact state officials after city councilmen, planning commissioners and members of the park, beach and recreation commission met to review provisions of a proposed new sign ordinance.

Under present state policy, the state will not landscape freeways with billboards or signboards are placed too close to highway rights of way.

Pointing out that Cabrillo highway through Pacifica is the city's main business streets, officials agreed that local businesses will depend on some system of adequate signage.

Chamber of Commerce officials have termed Pacifica's situation "unique."

Under present state policy if the new freeway is to be landscaped, the only signs that will be allowed on businesses on frontage roads will be on business buildings or on business property itself. All remote directional signs are now prohibited.

Under the city's proposal signs could be allowed on off-ramps leading out the general nature of businesses in districts such as Rockaway Beach. Signs could be uniform architecturally, and could use such general terms as "restaurants," "motels" and "recreational facilities." Then on frontage roads directional signs could be placed actually listing the names of various businesses.

City officials reviewed provisions of the city's new sign ordinance last night and agreed that restrictions on sign heights on top of buildings still needs more study. It was also agreed that a provision eliminating all red, green and yellow neon signs should be modified to prohibit them only when they conflict with traffic signals.

Openings at Academy

An examination for appointment to the California Maritime Academy will be held Saturday, April 13, at Palo Alto High School, Senator Richard J. Dolwig, San Mateo county, has announced.

Senator Dolwig, who will base his appointment on the results of the test, said that others may receive assignment to the academy if quotas are not filled.

The state-operated academy is located on Carquinez Straits, Vallejo and provides in three years approximately the same education as the normal four-year college. Graduates receive a bachelor of science degree either in nautical science or in marine engineering and is licensed by the U. S. Coast Guard as an officer for service aboard merchant ships.

To be eligible for admission, an applicant must, at the time of admission (August 12), be a high school graduate between the ages of 17-21, unmarried, and meet certain physical and mental requirements.

For further information, contact Senator Dolwig's office, 515 Alton street, Redwood City.

Volunteer Group To Aid Patients

"For the first time a San Mateo County citizen may become part of a volunteer program planned especially to serve San Mateo residents who are patients at Agnew State hospital," announced Mrs. James O. Price, chairman of the volunteer committee of the Mental Health association of San Mateo county.

"This beginning program will give the patients a valuable closer link to their home community during their hospitalization," Mrs. Price continued. "People of varied interests and talents are needed."

An orientation program is planned for those interested in this new group. Further information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Price, Mrs. Frank Fuller, or the office of the Mental Health association.

Rash of Auto Thefts Reported

Approximately 10 Daly City residents in the Upper Westlake area woke up last Wednesday morning and found their cars gone, according to police reports. The cars, most of them unlocked, were found abandoned in the immediate area.

Police think the autos were taken by juveniles for "joy rides," between 3:30 and 5:30 a.m.

One resident reported that he parked his car in front of the house and found it in back of the house.

Let's All Sing!

A Daly City Chorus Forms Singers Now Being Auditioned

Daly City soon will have a municipal chorus if the band wagon enthusiastically set in motion by Mrs. Patti Stolz of Daly City picks up some talented passengers.

Mrs. Stolz, the originator and director of the Belle-Tones, a women's chorus group, is auditioning singers for the city's first municipal chorus.

The Daly City - Westlake-Broadmoor area is "virtually untapped" as far as talent is concerned, stressed Mrs. Stolz. "Here is an opportunity for talented singers to perform in their own community."

The group welcomes anyone who likes to sing. Only a slight knowledge of music, plus an eagerness to learn, is required, according to the director.

The Belle-Tones have achieved considerable local success, appearing at such events as last month's Daly City Garden show, the recent Seventeenth District California conference of Parents and Teachers, the dedication of the Lincoln Park clubhouse and meetings of several civic groups.

THE BELLE-TONES are sponsored by the Daly City Department of Recreation.

More information about joining can be obtained by calling PLaza 5-0850, Ext. 18.

The Belle-Tones meet each Thursday at 8 p.m. in the new Lincoln Park clubhouse at Acton and Brunswick streets.

They will form the nucleus of the new municipal chorus.

Group members are Mrs. Stolz, Ruth Hartman, Kay Kaufman, Jackie Howe, Joanne Liberti, Helen Boyd, June Bianchini, Nancy Gensley, Beka Poole, Betty Elliott, Marie Ricci, Gladys Schultz, Susan Boyd, Jean Lewin and Betty Vincent.

Mrs. Stolz hopes to obtain a sizeable number of male voices to complement the chorus.

The repertoire includes such songs as "Moon River," "Ballad," "Halls of Ivy" and "Yellow Bird."

"We would like to keep the songs on a light classical plane," said Mrs. Stolz.

The next appearance of the Belle-Tones will be at the Crocker-Pershing P-TA meeting Tuesday.

"Songs of the Gilded Age" will be performed by the chorus that night and a repeat performance will be given at a meeting of the Jefferson High school P-TA February 14.

MRS. STOLZ frequently appears as a soprano soloist for civic and community functions. She studied voice and dramatics at Washington University Opera Workshop in St. Louis for several years and directed the chapel and junior choirs of St. John's Methodist church in St. Louis.

Her experience includes radio and television appearances, recitals, and Broadway musicals. She was a semi-finalist in the Midwestern States Metropolitan Opera auditions.

"My biggest thrill has been to see the Daly City chorus develop," she said. "If people in the future group are as willing and enthusiastic as those who have joined in the past, we can't miss."

Three Honored by Carnegie Hero Fund for Brave Deeds

Of the 25 heroism medals awarded last week by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission in Pittsburgh, Pa., three had local connections.

A bronze medal went to a San Francisco school teacher for rescuing a San Bruno girl at Pacifica, another went to the family Belmont man for saving a boy, even though it cost his own life, and a third award went to a former South San Franciscan living in Washington.

One of the bronze medals was awarded to teacher Kingsley G. Moore, who rescued Sheryl L. Gotelli, 15, as the tide was carrying out to sea at Pacifica last Spring.

Although he had not been swimming for eight years, Moore entered the surf after seeing another man fall while the girl drifted 500 feet from shore.

Just after he reached her, a helicopter arrived and hauled both of them from the sea. When Moore recovered his clothing on the beach, he found someone had stolen his watch.

The Belmont family of Verner K. Holmquist, a 43-year-old aircraft worker, received the medal for his rescue of a boy from the Stanislaus river near Oakdale in 1959.

Another man, Loyd L. Waterman of Escalon, received a bronze medal for lifting the boy ashore from Holmquist's arms, and saving the boy's father who had himself attempted the rescue.

Holmquist slipped back into the river, and drowned.

A third heroism medal was reported awarded to Charles Brashears, 18, a native of South San Francisco who moved to Bremerton, Wash., in 1950 with his father, Frank T. Brashears. He is the brother of Mrs. Janet Aguilar, 2 Olive court, San Mateo.

Route 229-B Is Adopted

Meet Rejects Protests by City Council

The California State Highway Commission last week adopted a freeway routing for four miles of state highway Route 229 through San Bruno.

The adopted route is line B, as discussed at a public hearing held by the commission in San Bruno on November 30. It swings south from the Pacifica-San Bruno city limits at Sweeney Ridge, then turns easterly north of San Andreas Lake and continues easterly, passing through the Tanforan parking lot just south of the racetrack to the Bayshore Freeway just north of the San Bruno interchange.

The route was recommended by State Highway Engineer J. C. Womack.

The commission found that the reasons given as the basis for the recommendation of line B are "sound and are approved."

In making his recommendation, Womack said that line B would require the fewest homes of the main cities routing (San Bruno), would be the least costly of the feasible alternatives, and had been officially endorsed by the San Mateo county board of supervisors.

He said it would give excellent traffic service.

The commission noted that following its public hearing further studies and comparisons were made of some of the alternatives—such as the Colma creek line, the E line, and the F line.

It was found that the Colma Creek line would be $10,100,000 more costly for construction than the B line, and $6,100,000 more costly for right of way.

It would provide $20,000,000 less in savings to motorists over a 20 year period, according to the report, and would take more industrial land (in South San Francisco) as well as providing far less relief to traffic congestion on San Bruno avenue.

The E line was considered unsatisfactory because of poor traffic service, very heavy damage to residential areas, and industrial development, and extremely high cost.

The commission found that "since the traffic service provided by the B line is so much superior to that provided by the F line, and since the F line requires as many improvements and has about the same cost (as B), the F line must still be considered as inferior."

The commission noted that a prompt decision was important to permit immediate negotiation with the U. S. Navy to acquire needed Navy property (Tanforan naval base) in San Bruno no longer needed for Navy purposes.

Plans of the division of highways call for the construction of a freeway, four lanes between Sweeney Ridge and the future Junipero Serra freeway, and six lanes east to the Bayshore freeway.

Cost is estimated approximately $33,000,000, including rights of way, of which about $16,400,000 is attributable to route 229. The balance will go to pay for connections with other routes. Start of construction will depend upon the availability of future highway funds.

Fitzgerald Hails Action By Highway Commission

County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald of San Bruno last week hailed the action of the California State Highway Commission in deciding on line "B" for the first half of state freeway 229 through his city.

"I am highly pleased with the commission's action," Fitzgerald said, "since it has always been my opinion that route B was the best, most economical route."

"I hope this will end the controversy that has split the residents of San Bruno, since the highway is urgently needed. Certainly, for those people who have property which might be affected, the decision will enable them to make plans and it will take the cloud off the titles of land that will not be affected."

On the other hand, the reaction of the citizens' group that has been opposing the freeway, and several of the city councilmen who voted to oppose route B, was far from resigned.

Not Unexpected Les Kelting, chairman of the San Bruno Anti-freeway group, admitted that the decision in favor of route B, was not unexpected in view of the state commission hearings in San Bruno.

Kelting, previously had charged that the ex-officio commission chairman, Robert B. Bradford, who is also director of public works, conducted the hearing in a biased manner, and gave clear preference to persons who were in favor of the division of highways recommendation.

"They made their decision. They picked the route that the city council said was unacceptable, the one that 3600 persons petitioned against. Now we'll see how firm they stand."

Kelting indicated he hopes the council will refuse to sign the state freeway agreement, which allows the state to construct the road when it is necessary to close any city street.

"This fight isn't over yet," he declared. "We'll see whether our council is willing to stand up and fight for what they say they believe in, and whether they will fight as hard as Millbrae did on the Junipero Serra freeway spur."

Neil Christal, who won a seat on the San Bruno city council by his campaign against route 229's line B, indicated he felt the state highway commission's hearings were not completely democratic, as promised by Governor Brown, since the engineers were not forced to produce full analysis of the alternate routes.

San Bruno Mayor Maurice Hamilton reserved comment until a study meeting by the full city council can be held on the state highway commission's findings and decision.

Coast Wife Fights Fire

A Pacifica housewife and her young son were credited last week with preventing serious damage to their home by extinguishing flames with a garden hose after a fire from a short circuit in a washing machine ignited the walls of the garage at their Westview home.

Firemen said even though Mrs. Lawrence Funderburk and her son, 503 Inverness drive, extinguished flames before the arrival of fire trucks, damage to the home probably will be close to $500. They said one wall was almost burned through, other walls were badly scorched, and the washing machine was a wreck.

The alarm shortly after 1 p.m. last Wednesday was one of four answered by Pacifica firemen that day. Firemen were called to 1128 Rosita road after 8 p.m. after Tom Medeiros, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Medeiros, suffered a badly lacerated head when he fell, striking his head against a bed post. Firemen were called to wash down gasoline from an overturned car on Cabrillo highway near the Sea Bowl shortly after 9 p.m. Six minutes later they were dispatched to a nearby home on a report of someone taking an overdose of pills. No service was given, however, when the report was determined to be only that

Jeff Adult School Observes 40th Birthday

More Than 125 Classes Given In Community

With the opening of spring semester Monday through February 14, the Jefferson Adult Evening High School observes its 40th anniversary.

The program started in 1923 with classes for citizenship and now has over 125 different classes in a variety of subjects.

Registration To Open Ten Days

Registration for the Adult Education Program at Westmoor, Jefferson, Terra Nova and Oceana High schools starts Monday and runs through February 14.

Registration for classes are held at the first meeting of the class with the teacher, on the day, time and place indicated in schedules.

After the second week, all registrations are held in the school office, Mondays through Thursdays 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The Adult Education Program offers added opportunity not only for those adults who wish to complete their high school education (60 adults graduated last year), but also for those who wish to extend their education beyond the high school level.

There are no residence requirements. The only requirement is age (over 18), the desire to attend a class, and the payment of a dollar registration fee. The fee entitles the registrant to sign up in any number of classes.

The program offers a well-rounded curriculum, with courses in the academic areas.

The Adult Evening school is a segment of the total educational program offered the citizens of the Jefferson Union High school district. The principal is Louis J. Martin who has guided the program for the past four years. In explaining the advantages of the program through adult education, Martin said:

"Through diversified and enlightening classes, the influence and effect of the program is felt by hundreds of families throughout the community."

"At the end of each year, nearly 7000 persons will have enrolled in one or more phases of the program."

"Many persons are working for a high school diploma, for personal improvement reasons, or to prepare for the rigors of professional education on the college level."

"Other residents attend special short-term courses in homemaking, income tax preparation, first aid and real estate training."

"Some adults wish to learn to drive the automobile, or take up vocational training as, for example, data processing or Christmas sales training."

"Others wish to develop a better understanding of themselves through psychology of human relations or philosophy, while some wish to learn how to sketch, draw, and/or create original military designs."

"Four languages (Spanish, Italian, French and German) are being learned by adult students for cultural improvement."

New Courses Are Offered

Here is a list of new courses that will be offered in the spring semester of the Jefferson Adult Education Program:

Westmoor: Algebra review, Tuesdays; books and ideas, part II, Tuesdays; creative writing, Wednesdays; psychology, normal and abnormal, Thursdays; law for the layman, Wednesdays; furniture refinishing and repairing, Thursdays; metal shop, Mondays; airline operations, Wednesdays; and baking for the family, Wednesdays.

Terra Nova: Auto maintenance for women, Tuesdays; conversational French, Tuesdays and physical fitness for men, Mondays.

Oceana: English for foreign speaking and preparation for citizenship, Mondays.

Jefferson: Accent correction, Mondays and Wednesdays; speech and vocabulary development for foreign speaking.

INDIVIDUAL HELP — Pablo Perez, left, gives an adult student individual instruction in a difficult problem. The class in bookkeeping and accounting he teaches is given each Tuesday and Thursday nights at Westmoor Adult school.

Forum Series Offered In Westmoor Program

A Community Forum Series will be sponsored by the Westmoor Adult Evening school, Louis J. Martin, principal, has announced.

Public lectures will be given by educators, distinguished in their fields Wednesday evenings at 7:30 at the Westmoor Little Theatre. All of the lectures are free to the general public.

"Understanding Russia — 1963" is the central theme. Topics to be discussed will include Russia, Red China, Cuba, and other Russian satellites and their foreign policy. Khrushchev's Russia, Russia's political climate, Soviet ideology, its lands and the people who inhabit them.

Also to be discussed are Russia's space achievements as well as Soviet military potentials. Dr. Donald M. Castleberry, professor of government at San Francisco State college, will present the first lecture Wednesday night, February 13, entitled, "An Introduction to the USSR."

February 27, Dr. Walter R. Hacker, professor of geography and head of the department at San Francisco State college, who is a specialist on the physical and cultural geography of Russia, will lecture on "Russia's Land and its Peoples."

"Russia's Military Potential" will be the subject of a lecture scheduled March 6 by Dr. William P. Golden, professor and coordinator of the extension division at San Francisco State college.

Enrollment to Reach 7000

Public school adult education in California presents a great opportunity for people to learn new skills, retrain for new jobs, and to better understand the complex society in which we live, according to Jefferson Union High school district officials.

For example, more than 600,000 adults enrolled in 20,486 adult schools last October. During the current school year, more than 7000 adults will have passed through the adult education program of the Jefferson district.

Their Yule Decorations Were Best

ward Rando, 48 Park Manor drive, best outdoor display and Mr. and Mrs. Rubin Fuhrman, 697 South Mayfield avenue, best window display. The awards were presented at a dinner at Nick's Rockaway restaurant in Pacifica. Robert Brachman was the master of ceremonies.

Youths Held in Daly City

Daly City police routed four sleeping teen-agers—two boys and two girls—out of a vacant house at 64 Guadalupe avenue early Thursday morning and charged them with violation of the Juvenile Code.

One of the girls had been reported as a runaway. The four teen-agers were sent to Hillcrest Juvenile Home.

Earlier, police said, a third teenage girl had left the house after her mother had traced her there. Sgt. Mathew Murray, Patrolman Thomas Culley and Jay Mackin entered the house at 6:05 a. m. and reported finding the four teen-agers sleeping and the living room of the house littered with wine bottles and glasses. Police said one of the girls and her family had once lived in the house and had been evicted.

Board Endorses S. M. Road Plans

A program for financing the proposed $40,000,000 city-county road construction program with a lesser tax impact than was previously thought necessary was endorsed last week by the county board of supervisors.

The board adopted the financing program proposed by the Government Research Council.

The action was taken on the suggestion of Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, chairman of the county Greater Highways committee, who said he was anxious to disperse reports that a 20-cent boost in the county tax rate will be necessary to pay for the road program.

The GRC proposal calls for a $35,000,000 bond issue, with an additional $5,000,000 to be taken from gas tax funds, and use of up to $1,000,000 a year of county sales tax revenues to help retire the bonds.

Thus, the GRC plan proposes the equivalent of a level long-term 20-cent annual tax rate could be reduced to nothing in the first year, 1.8 cents in the second year and increasing in subsequent years to a maximum of 11.5 cents.

The amount to be raised through the use of sales taxes and other existing sources of revenue would be an estimated $300,000 in 1964-65, rising to a peak of $1,000,000 in 1968-69, County Manager E. R. Stallings told the board. The total amount needed from the various sources, Stallings said, would decrease each year after that.

The Greater Highways committee is scheduled to meet at 3 p.m. tomorrow to take action on the GRC proposal.

Fitzgerald said a final decision on the exact amount of the bond proposal will be set Tuesday. The proposal is to be submitted to the voters April 16.

Seek Grant For County Sewage Plan

The federal government will be asked in two weeks for a $160,000 grant to finance a countywide sewage disposal study in San Mateo county.

County Manager E. R. Stallings reported to the Board of Supervisors last week that he will submit the application to the United States Public Health Service when he is in Washington, D. C., on other business February 6 and 7.

Stallings said such a study would include methods of disposing of the effluent from the various disposal plants operating in the county.

"We cannot continue to dump effluent into the bay," he said, "without polluting the bay. Chemicals in the discharge are destroying the marine life in the bay."

One suggestion that has been made, the county manager noted, would be to tie all disposal plants into one central piping system and pump the effluent over or through the mountain and discharge it in the ocean. Another proposal that has been made would be to pump the effluent under extreme pressure deep into the earth to raise the usable water table.

The problem was first brought to the board by Eugene M. Howell, county health engineer. Howell said that a big subdivision planned for the Woodside area proposed to use septic tanks but that he feared that the ground was not suitable and that the homes should be connected to sewers. The health official said similar problems are arising in other parts of the county and recommended that some countywide disposal system be devised.

Mateo Job Openings

Job opportunities in 12 classifications in county government were announced last week by the Civil Service commission.

Among them is the position of stenographer-clerk in the north county health office in South San Francisco. The jobs starts at $361 a month and goes to $452.

Additional information about the jobs may be obtained at the Civil Service office in the county courthouse in Redwood City.

Christmas Bureau Assisted Over 600 Needy Families

The warm hearted response of residents throughout the county was responsible for the Community Christmas Bureau's most successful drive since its founding eight years ago, according to bureau chairman Mrs. Ron Schultz.

She reported that this year's total in cash contributions amounted to $7100 against last year's total of $4600. The 1962 drive also brought in over $900 in merchandise orders and hams valued over $600 contributed by the Unions. Other contributions to the drive were toys, clothing, food, bedding, household appliances and a wide range of items.

There were between 600 and 700 families with from two to thirteen children and many elderly people in the lists of the drive. Mrs. Schultz named Robert Owen, director of St. Vincent de Paul Society, for directing pick up and delivery of items and providing food distribution centers throughout the county. Navy Commander Leonard Komisaruk and his staff for providing headquarters for the Bureau in the Naval Reserve training Center and assistance in handling of items; and Captain Robert Gromme and staff, Marine Corps Reserve, Third Battalion, Twenty-third Marines, San Bruno, for directing the annual "Toys for Tots" drive which brought in over 10,000 toys distributed by the Bureau.

Also instrumental in the success of the drive, said Mrs. Schultz, was Edwin Michelson, Secretary Treasurer, Butchers Union, Local 516, who directed purchase of 114 canned hams with contributions from Butchers Union, Local 516; Retail Clerks International Association, Local 775; Paint Makers Union; Electrical Workers Local 1989; San Mateo Labor Council; Bartender and Culinary Workers; and Retail Grocery Clerks International, Local 775.

Largest cash contribution to the drive came from the San Mateo Elks club, said Mrs. Schultz. Others of over $100 were from Calsco Water Co., Redwood City Junior Women's club, First Methodist church of Burlingame, South San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lenkurt Electric Contribution Committee, Redwood City Kiwanis, Kiwanis of Menlo Park, and the International Association of Machinists, Lodge 1327. Mrs. Schultz also extended acknowledgements of assistance in the program to Mrs. Palmer Mendelsohn of Hillsborough, and the David B. Bohannon Foundation.

Hillsboro Thefts Solved by Arrest

The "Raffles" of Pacifica, Sidney Arthur Long, whose precise filing system of potential burglary victims has police throughout the Bay Area gaping in amazement, has been definitely tied into two large Hillsborough thefts, and possibly four more.

Chief Russell Fisher told The Times this morning the owners of property stolen last month from two Hillsborough homes are being transported by Capt. Art Sacht to San Francisco today for a "show-up" of the loot.

The police chief indicated a conference with San Francisco police had turned up the additional fact that Long has among his belongings at his Pacifica home a list of the wealthy in San Francisco and on the Peninsula, including some 60 names of the aristocracy of Hillsborough, all potential victims.

The burglar had a calendar on which each burglary was specifically planned for a certain night, including 18 prospects in Hillsborough for February, with names of neighbors in the area just in case police should stop him. All three of the homes that Hillsborough police had "staked out" as possible burglary sites were on that list, Fisher said today.

One location, which was slated for burglary on February 16, was marked on the calendar "Can't fail," according to Fisher.

The suspects, who police say are Long, 43, a two-time loser, and Patricia York, 25, had lived for nearly a year at 241 Reichling, Vallemar, Pacifica, where they were known as Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lewis.

Kept to Selves

They never touched the grounds and rarely spoke to their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fizer, next door at 233 Reichling. Fizer said he understood "Mrs. Lewis" worked as a receptionist until recently in San Francisco; and Pacifica police thought she might have been a social receptionist. She left each morning at 7:30 a.m. and returned at 5:30 p.m.

Both Miss York and Long drove their own cars—a Volkswagen sports car and a yellow Plymouth Fury recently repainted black. They always drove directly into their two-car garage. Only once was another car seen in the driveway—a red station wagon.

During the past few months, the Fizers began to wonder a bit about their neighbors, who had no children nor guests, but were using a large, three-bedroom tract home. Mrs. "Lewis" who liked sewing, was incessantly busy altering dresses with a large dress form visible to the neighbors.

Hillsborough police, confronted with a rash of fur, jewel and cash thefts, put on heavy patrols. They were particularly interested in a Karman Ghia that had been seen in the vicinity at the time of two burglaries. In one of them, a red-dish blonde wig and several size 12 dresses vanished; and other indications of a woman's presence became apparent.

San Francisco police also were alerted after a number of jewel and fur thefts of socialite homes, one alone amounting to $40,000.

When they nabbed the two suspects Saturday afternoon, finding a carpenter's brace and bit in the woman's purse, and a hole bored through a door of a lavish home, they released them on bail within hours despite the evidence of several bags and pillowcases packed with valuables in the ransacked home.

But they gave the story and pictures to the papers, and the Fizers immediately spotted the two as their neighbors. They called Pacifica police.

A Pacifica officer said the pair admitted that "if they had had 15 minutes more, they would have been gone."

The home contained at least a half dozen furs, many expensive dresses and suits, hats each in their own box, several dozen pairs of expensive black hosiery, five sewing machines, several TV sets, and assorted other items many of which, San Francisco police say, tie in to the loot in burglaries there.

To Examine Loot
A parade of Hillsborough socialites is expected to examine the loot today and tomorrow, although in some cases here, only money was taken.

Three expensive wigs, one red-dish blonde answering the description of a $250 wig taken in Hillsborough, were found in the home.

Also found were a printing press and plates, and more than a dozen drivers' licenses "very expertly forged" as well as more than 100 business and credit cards. All were for the woman, police say.

Also there were more than a dozen auto license plates and a number of checks which, police said yesterday, led to a $100,000 check cashing setup.

Denied in the same session were two requests for rezoning submitted by Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Sowers, 7 Fairlawn court, and J. F. Flaherty, 72 Fairlawn court. Both petitions asked to rezone areas from single family to multiple use.

The commission said it could not give approval until definite though not necessarily elaborate plans could be given.

Approved by the commission were permits to William L. Lich, to establish a cocktail lounge and sign at 6087 Mission street.

The go-ahead was given for construction and erection of five signs, and a garage, at 134 Los Banos avenue.

Publicist For County; Pay—$857

Creation of the position of county public information officer was approved yesterday by the county board of supervisors. The board members said they intend to fill the position by March 1.

The new job was established according to a program outlined by County Manager E. R. Stallings.

The paramount reason for establishment of a county public information officer position, Stallings told the board, "is to provide a focal point for, facilitate and improve the collection and distribution of factual data pertaining to San Mateo county governmental operations. The purpose of a co-ordinated approach to this important facet of county affairs is to afford the public a clear, comprehensive and current view of county activities."

Coverage
"The proposed function and position do not reflect adversely upon either the excellent coverage that county operations have been given by area news media, or the manner in which information has been developed and released by individuals and units within county government. It is expected, however, that the co-ordinative assistance of a public information officer will enable the persons and agencies involved to improve considerably upon the good results they have already achieved."

The starting pay for the job will be $857 a month, with chance for advancement to $1071 a month after three years. Stallings said the salary range is at about the midpoint between salaries paid for similar positions in Santa Clara and Sacramento counties.

The public information officer will not have civil service status but will serve at the pleasure of the supervisors. He will be appointed by them and be assigned directly as their employee. This was accomplished by substitution of the new position for the unclassified position of secretary to the board, a job that was never filled. Authorization for such a confidential position is in the county charter.

Callans Withdraw Petition

Developers Thomas J. Callan Jr. and Michael Callan last night withdrew a petition to the Daly City planning commission for rezoning nine acres of land east of and adjacent to Westmoor High school.

The property, which lies beside nine acres previously rezoned from residential to commercial, is proposed by the developer as the site of a shopping center.

Callans' attorney, appearing before the commission, broke a 17-week silence by trying to gain a continuance of the hearing on the grounds that plans could not be completed until a decision was rendered by the planning commissioners.

Commissioner Tony Masini reminded him that there has been opposition from both residents and businessmen in the area and that no decision could be given until Callan's intentions were clear.

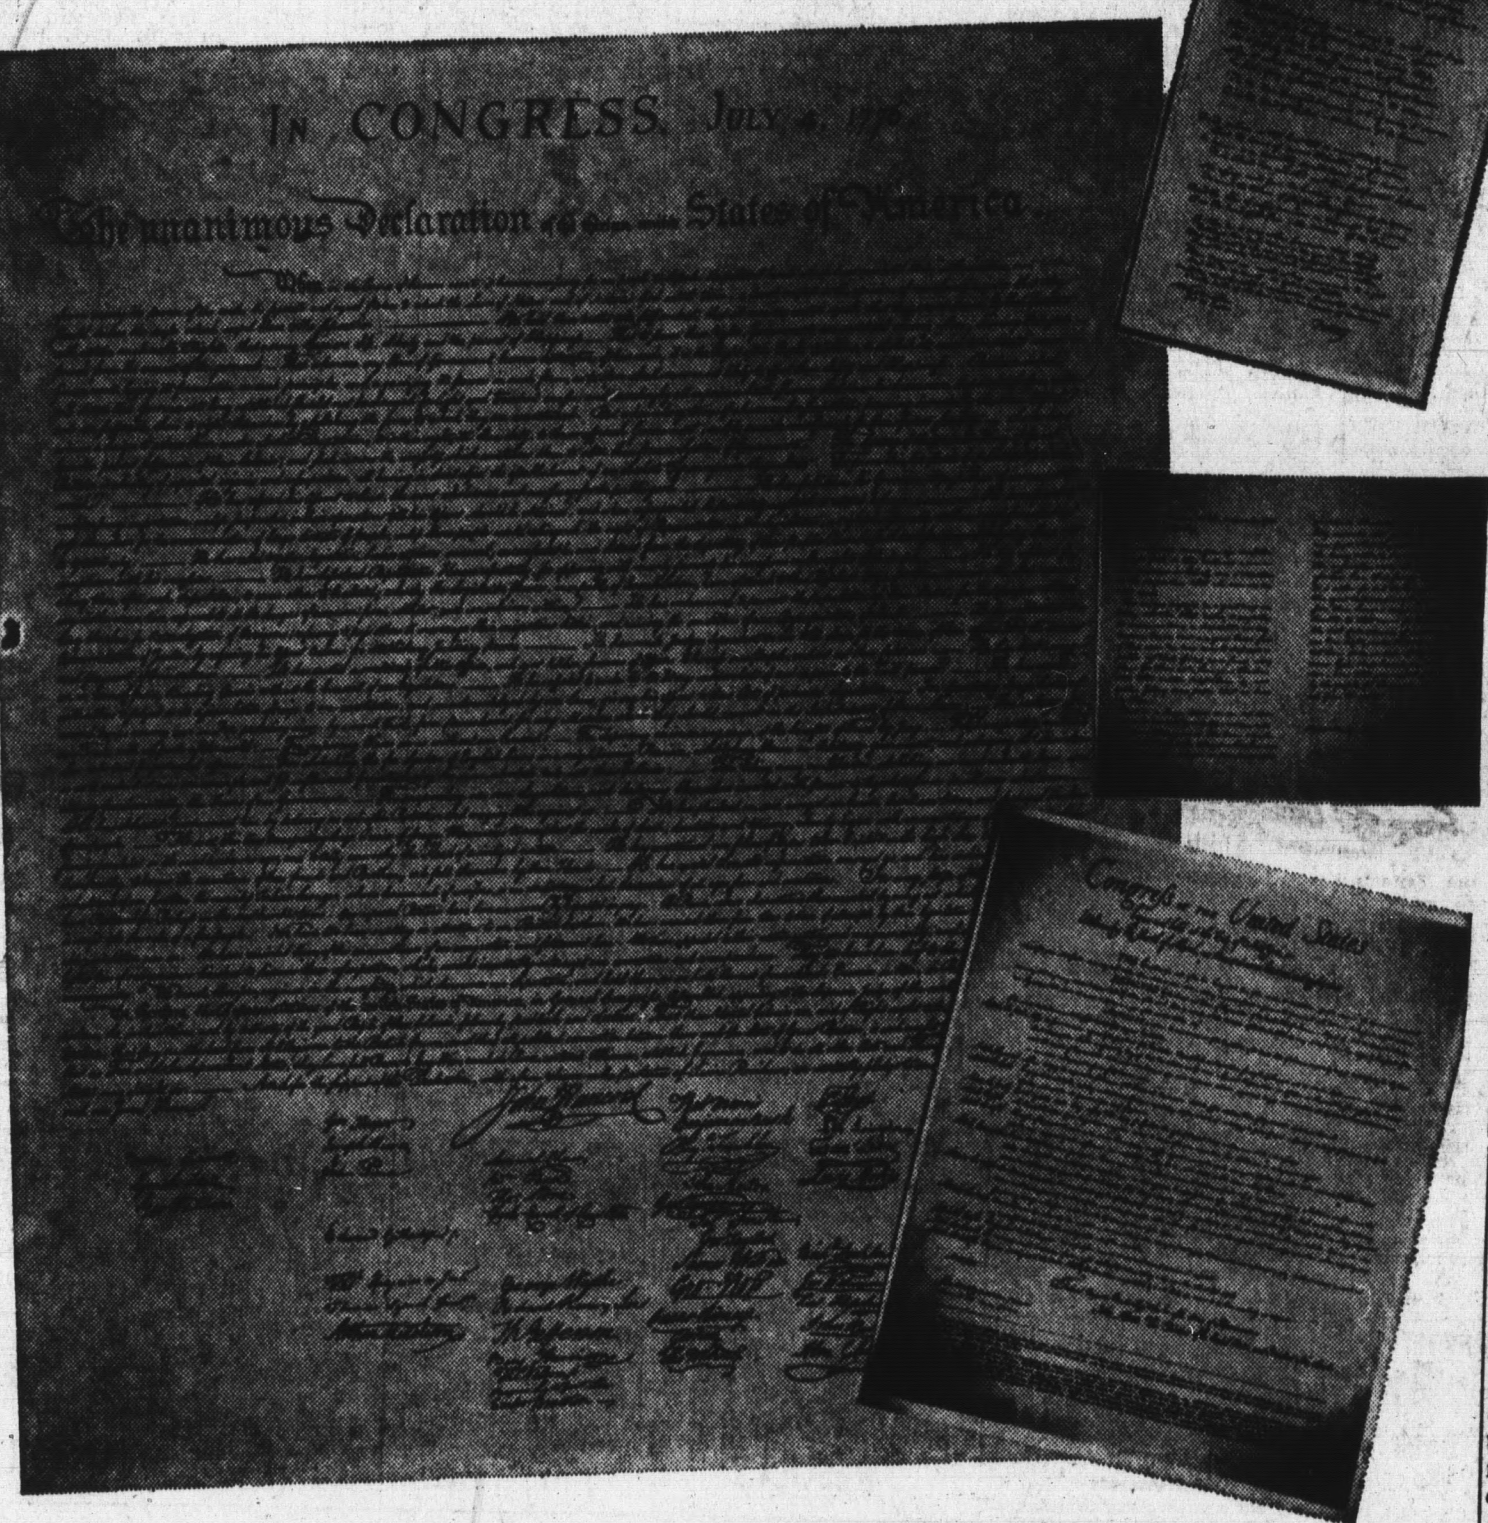

Denied in the same session were two requests for rezoning submitted by Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Sowers, 7 Fairlawn court, and J. F. Flaherty, 72 Fairlawn court. Both petitions asked to rezone areas from single family to multiple use.

The commission said it could not give approval until definite though not necessarily elaborate plans could be given.

Approved by the commission were permits to William L. Lich, to establish a cocktail lounge and sign at 6087 Mission street.

The go-ahead was given for construction and erection of five signs, and a garage, at 134 Los Banos avenue.
